

Department of Psychology
Semester – 4
Syllabus for Alternative of MOOC

Full Mark 100

(Midterm- 20 Mark, Assignment/ Project- 20 Mark, End term-60 Marks)

Applied Psychology

Course Outcomes:

By the end of this course students will be able to :-

- Know how psychology is helpful in the field of defence along with the role of military psychologists and aspects of defence where psychology plays a role.
- Understand the concept of discrimination and the role of women in Indian Society.
- To analyse the importance of psychology in the dynamics of social relations.
 - Unit: I Defence Psychology: The concept of military psychology
 - Role of military psychologists in defence, selection, recruitment and training of personnel.
 - Human engineering in defence.

Unit:ii Psychology of gender:

- Issues of discrimination.
- Management of diversity.
- Glass-ceiling effect, self fulfilling prophesy
- Women and Indian society

Unit:iii current trends in social psychology:

- Liking and loving: types of love
- Factors affecting attraction
- Theories of attraction.

Reference books:

1. Baron, R.A and Byrne (2000). social psychology Delhi ; Pearson education Asia
2. Swain Smarak , Applied psychology, New vishal Publications, Newdelhi.