INTRODUCTION

[1]. Sambalpur University, being a premier institution of higher education in Western Odisha, caters to a large number of students, research scholars, and faculty across diverse disciplines. However, with the rapid expansion of academic programs, introduction of multidisciplinary courses, and the growing demand for flexible learning environments, there is an urgent need for establishing a Multipurpose Learning Centre within the University campus. The proposed Multipurpose Learning Centre will serve as a central hub for academic interaction, collaborative research, digital learning, and skill enhancement. Presently, the existing departmental infrastructure is fragmented and limited in terms of space, technology integration, and accessibility. Modern learners require dynamic and technology-enabled spaces that support both independent and group learning, digital access to resources, and interdisciplinary academic exchange. The Centre will bridge these existing gaps by providing a common facility equipped with smart classrooms, seminar halls, discussion zones, digital library access, incubation spaces, and training facilities. It will not only enhance the quality of teaching and learning but also foster innovation, creativity, and holistic development among students and scholars. In addition, the Multipurpose Learning Centre will act as a venue for capacity-building programs, faculty development workshops, industry-academia interactions, and community outreach activities. It will support Sambalpur University's vision to become a centre of excellence in higher education, research, and societal engagement.
